Data from the Vehicle Activated Sign installed on the western side of Drefach inside the present 30mph limit suggests that the average speed of traffic during the day time is close to the 30mph limit, though the average speed is a little higher at night time. At present it would seem there is no real formal justification available for considering additional measures relating to traffic calming at this location at present, in advance of the likely change to the speed limit in 2023."
